TAZARUS & Co.'s: Billiard Tables are now the only ones appreciated in India, as a long and steady experience extending over 50 years has proved them to be the best and most suitable for the climate. C. L. & Co. have received a large number of very flattering testimonials from all parts of India, China, Burmah. Cevion. Manila Java. Straits, and Persia, to tifying to the superior make and quality of their Billiard Tables, and while thanking their Friends and Patrons in China for the liberal support so long extended to their firm, would, in soliciting further patronage, beg to mention the following facts which have conduced to the success their efforts have hitherto met with, Every table is made of solid wood, well easoned and not veneered. The Cushions are constructed on an entirely new principle, introduced by C L. and Co., and unlike that adopted by English makers, and are much more durable and lively than English made cushions. No table leaves C. L. and Co.'s premises until it bas been standing ready finished for over 12 months, in order to ensure perfectly seasoned material. Every article of furniture, also, that leaves C. LAZA-nus and Co.'s Establishment, is guaranteed of Solid and Sensoned Wood. C. L. & Co. have always ready a large stock of new Cushions on their peculiar principle, and which can be supplied for any table, the accurate length and breadth of the slate bed only being required. C. L. and Co huve always in hand a large to 1671 . THERE has been probably nothing which was stated that it was entirely his fault. He had hailed with more satisfaction as being likely to improve the trade with China than the who lived in the same street as Mr. R. Walker, opening of the Suez Canal. The reduction or the slaw necessary for the transfe or goods by more than half was an improvement which. according to all recognised principles, ought to have been of the greatest advantage. Yet, it is perhaps not going beyond the fact tosay that there is nothing which has been productive of greater disappointment to foreign merchants. Its bearing upon the trade is very admirably summed up by Mr. Consul MEDHURST—who by the way is always sound and weighty in his views on commercial questions—in his report upon the trade of Shanghai for the year 1872. The report is somewhat old by this time, but what is stated in Gambetta refused to retract. it is, we believe, almost as true at the present day as it was a year and half ago. "The rapid voyages of the steamers through the canal" says the above-named authority " has vastly curtailed the duration of venture, while the telegraph is presumed to have reduced the risk of loss to a minimum. These conditions have stimulated trade by attracting many competitors who were previously excluded from the business by want of capital or credit, for a small capital quickly turned over-new suffices where a much larger sum would have formerly been inadequate, while the improved means of protection which financiers now enjoy renders credit more 7th June. In knowledge of local requirements and of all the details connected with the trade in China itself, the native has everything his own way as compared with the foreigner, and it is hopeless for men with small means to expect to be able to compete with him. The capitalist only can bring into play a force which South Australia, it may be interesting to our will give him some chance against his astute competitors, and it is not in the nature of things that the trade should become more profitable by increased competition, as at every stage where it becomes more competitive it acquires more of those special elements in which the natives are able to work at an advantage as compared with foreigners.

T. Finniss, was appointed. Escape Oliffs, near the trance of the Adelaide River, was unfortunately selected as the site of the new settlement, but after some extent of land was surreyed and much discussion as to the cligibility of the place chosen had occurred. Escape Cliffs was abandoned in 1867. In 1879,-the Surveyor-General of South Australia, Mr. G. W. Goyder, was directed to survey a large area of land and form townships at Port Darwin. This work was most successfully accomplished, and Captain Bloomfield Douglas was appointed Government Resident in February, 1870. Preston has recently been thrown into a state riclent agitation. The two borough auditors. Mr. Henry Davies and Mr. Samuel Cragg, had to retire, but sought re-election. They were opposed by Mr. J. Dun and Mr. J. Southworth. The salary attached to the coveted office is £15 a vear. This is not a very magnificent sum. but in Preston it sufficed to arouse fierce party passions. The candidates went about among the burgesses, "canvassing with as much enrucetuces, says the Manchester Courter, as if the well-being of the community were at etake." Each had his supporters. > HALF PAY. (Army and Navy Gazette.)

There is no subject which calls for the more careful attention of the present head of the

of the yoke, and the consequent carrying of the officers now on the Hulf-Pay List, but who are load to its destined end. But what a pity that hoping sooner or later to return to the active want of ability is, and how many lives are duties of a military life. Half pay officers may be chased under four heads, viz., 1. Those who have been robbed of their positions, consequent upon thedisbandwent of their regiments, 2. These who have accepted unattached promotion of their own accord. 3. Those who exchanged to Laif pay to suit their own personal convenience, or in consequence of ill-health; and 4. Those who have been permanently retired. The claims of class I have been so far admitted that in three ranks the number of those who continue in idleness is now but small. It is with class 2, therefore, that we intend more particularly to that certain unattached promotions should be various ranks were thinned, and many of those who had accepted steps returned to full pay. But in 1871, came the Bill for the Abolition of Purchase. From the moment that Bill passed into law the prospects of the men, who in the previous year had helped the War Office to carry out its reduction of the Estimates, underwent what was to the majority of them ruinous change: from the hour purchase was abolished, the privilege, bitherto extended to them, of making provision for themselves was denied, and now their only prospect, if, indeed a prospect it can be called, is to wait and hope that a war may some day break anddenly upon us, and that their services may be once more required. It has to be borne in mind that the majority of those promoted in April, 1870, were old Majore, Cantains, and Subalterns who, being unable to purchase, seeing little or no chance of mmediate advancement in their own regiments. and baving suffered the mortification of being constantly purchased over gladly availed themselves of the opportunity—then regarded as favourable of passing to the higher ranks through the Unattached List. Toking the case of a Captain, the advantage of a ball-pay company was that by accepting it the rank of Captain was attained, and for a sum of from £300 to £500 an exchange to half pay could without much difficulty be progured. reach of many who had not the average £1,600, which was, including regulation, the price of a company in most Line regiments. Owing to the prohibition of exchanges from full to haif pay, the chances of those waiting to serve have become, as we have said; hopeless, the few vacancies that have occurred by the retirement of officers upon temporary balf pay having been very properly reserved for officers of disthe convenience of many, but even this would be but a slight boon to the poorer men. who do not possess the necessary sum for effecting an exchange. These have to look to the the War Office to create vacancies the Horse Guards can do little to help them. One point' at any rate might be conceded. A Royal. Warrant could be issued, by which service on compulsory balf pay would in future be allowed to count both for promotion and full pay retirement. Were this suggestion adopted.

Sir John Lubbock having arrived at some conclusions unfavourable to the bce's intelligence, a perfect buzz of remonstrance arose. Very singular, indeed, are some of the observations made public. Mr. John just preed, her Indyship, after desiring that Topham, for example, of Marlborough House, her friheral may be as quiet as possible, goes on Torquay, describes in Nature how, having re- to say "I further wish my right hand to be moved one of his hives last antumn a distance out offind buried in the park at Castle Donof twelve yards; to a spot concealed behind a ingresult the bend of the hill to the Trent, bush, from its former site, multitudes of the bees and a small cross or stone over it, with the returned daily to the old place, and remained motto, I byde my tyme." flying round the scene of their early joys till they fell in the chills of the evening despairing on the grass. Mr. Topham habitually picked up the exhausted bees, and warned them on his coat sleeve, previous to carrying them to their transported hive, and in this charitable process he took note that it was invariably the old bees with wings worn at the edges (the bee-equivalent for grey hair) which persisted in their mistake, and remained pertinaciously on the original site of the hive while the

on the original site of the hive, while the younger bees found their way to it in its new Dosition. The conclusion drawn by Mr. Topham is extremely ingenious, and, we think, satisfactory; namely, that in all the insects the faculty of memory was superior to observation, and that among the older bees memory, enforced by longer habit, was altogether paramount, while the younger ones were quicker to receive new impressions and in correcting their mistakes. ARGENTINE REPUBLICA The lanama Star and Herald of the 21st of Marchrives a fearful account of bourible crimes which lave recently been entered by the mili-tary homes of the army of Lopez Jordan. The scenes which it describes were, it states, with ceased by one Don Emilio Victoria, who was made planner, and taken, with six others, to the graph at Querencio. They were then ordered to main nuder a goard of 20 musketeors, commandel by a bruther of Hermoni, to where Querenio was, on the other side of Gauleguay. When bey arrived at the farm of San Augustin, a Seno Euclides Irigoyen came out to meet them amed with a lance, and, approaching the officer, mid, "Why do you make these people unffer to much F. Anyhow, I knew you have ordered kill them on arriving at the forest, so you harbetter let us kill them at once." The officer plused to agree to ble proposals. As soon is they had reached the camp of Querenio, Chamorro was made fast. Again next day the order came that all the prisoners should be despatched. They begin with Chamoro, who was lanced to death. My turn was to ome next, when an order pame to bring me beine Querencie, which was done. Later on in he day he delivered me over to Lopez Jordan who kept me with him until his defeat by DorGonzalo. All the chiefs had orders to kill when they pleased. Lopez Jordan ordered bis visims to be despatched after insulting them in the vilest language. Others, such as Gonzalz and Campes, would address one of these ufortunates, Who are you? So and so. "There from?" Kill him, he is a savage." The executioner then stepped out to do bis duty. Each chief had his ownexecutioner. He drew his weapon, and

THE MUCH MARRIED. St. Jerome mentions a widow that marrie her twenty-second husband, who, in his turn, had been married to twenty wives! There is an instance recorded at Bordeaux, in 1772; of a gentleman who had been married sixteen times. A woman named Elizabeth Nase. who died in Florence, in 1768, had been married to seven husbands. She was at the ripe age of seventy when last led to the hy meneal altar, and she contrived to survive her "beloved." When on her deathbed, it is stated, she recalled the good and bad points of each of her husbands, and having impartially weighed in her mind the pros and cone, she determined that the fifth claimed the highest merit, and ordered her grave to be with his.
